New Feature: Article Search on Promotion and Product Pages 1/2

On Promotion and Product Pages an Article Search is available

New Feature: Article Search on Promotion and Product Pages:

2/2

With Release 1.71 it is possible to integrate an Article Search on Promotion and Product Pages, so customers can search for certain articles. To have the Search functionality work properly, changes need to be performed on the following pages within the CMS:

- Language Page
- Promotion Week Page (current week)
- A Search Result Page needs to be created

Within the Language Page please integrate the necessary labels for the Article Search in the tab Articles within the section Article Search.

Additionally, the Article Search component needs to be integrated on the Promotion Week Page and on the newly created template Product Category Page (see below for further information). Within the component you can for example define frequently used search criteria, which will then be displayed to the customer. You can also add labels. Any label you integrate within the Article Search component overwrites the general label defined in the Language Page.

To display your search results you would furthermore need to create a Search Result Page. This needs to be done only once, so one page serves for both Promotions and Products.

When searching within the Promotion Page, the result page will first show articles within the Promotions and further down articles within the Products. When searching within Products the result is the other way around.

When starting to type the name you want to search for, the system will automatically suggest up to ten search results. The search will search for the following criteria:

- Article Name
- Article Category
- Brand Name
- Text within the short description

Furthermore, Onboarding features can be taken out of the Onboarding. To do so, the headline and the descriptive texts just need to be deleted within the CMS.
